TATGE, LETHE C.

12/9/69 OX: Compression fracture of D9 is unchanged. Calcification is beginning to be evident. I was somewhat surprised to observe that she was not wearing a back brace. She told me that Deon's could not fit her. She reported back to this office. I was not here. Since I had already given her the address of a brace maker in Seaside Lake for Taylor back brace in the event that she could not be fit locally, she felt that she would obtain it. Unfortunately she has not yet to the present date.

EXAMINATION: Shows that she has no spasm. She has subjective improved comfort. The increased dorsal curvature is unchanged.

RECOMMENDATION: I advised her to obtain the Taylor type of back brace as soon as she reasonably can. She must rest about half an hour after each two hours that she is up as a protection to the back until she gets the brace and she should return here in about two months for review with x-ray. She asked me about a pain in both the right and left sides of her face. The area suggests trigeminal nerve area involvement, but it is mild and I defer to Dr. Green who will be more skilled in referring her for this problem.

REPORT: By progress copy to Dr. Green.

Brand Inspectors of Wasatch Co

The big cattle owners of Sanpete County had these brands, all of Gunnison:

TC Theodore Christensen
T
C Titus Christensen
W John Wasden
A Anthony E. Metcalf

It was the hope of every stockman that his brand could not be altered. Later and desperately came the day of the local Jack Chew, and the were often duplicated. Therefore, the brand must be clean cut, easily read, and tamper proof. This was sufficient for anyone with cow-sense. Dad's brand was TC. Even this was applied on his sheep by a wooden mold dipped in tar and applied to the shorn fleece. However, sheep were yearly re-branded after each shearing. Horses also were branded with smaller sized brands.
